

Global Policy Summary on Combatting Trafficking in Persons

Company Personnel are prohibited from engaging in trafficking in persons; procuring commercial sex acts; using forced labor or child labor; destroying, concealing, confiscating, or otherwise denying access by an employee to the employee's identity or immigration documents regardless of issuing authority; using misleading or fraudulent practices during the recruitment of employees or offering of employment; using suppliers, recruiters, or any other third party agents that do not comply with local labor laws of the country in which the services take place; charging employees recruitment fees; or failing to provide return transportation (or paying for the cost of return transportation) upon the end of employment. Violation of this policy will result in corrective action, up to and including termination of employment or termination of the contract as may be applicable.

Mylan complies with all applicable laws and regulations when contracting with the U.S. government (including the requirement to inform employees that the U.S. government has adopted a policy prohibiting trafficking in persons).
