Mylan's diverse workforce reflects the communities where we work as well as the populations we aim to serve. Embracing diverse viewpoints, thinking differently and challenging the status quo all support our ability to understand and meet patients' needs, set new standards in healthcare and deliver better health for a better world.

Mylan is committed to fostering a culture of inclusion, integrity, dignity and deep mutual respect. We are an equal opportunity employer that embraces what makes our people unique including, but not limited to, sex, sexual orientation, age, race/ethnicity, color, religion, national origin, physical or mental disability, or any other characteristic protected by law.

We want all colleagues at Mylan to enjoy a productive and positive work environment that is free from discrimination and harassment. Our global policy prohibiting discrimination, harassment and retaliation is reflected in our practices for managing talent, recruitment and hiring, transfers and promotions, training and compensation.
